ERNEST KAAI CONCERT AT OPERA HOUSE TONIGHT TO REVIVE MELODIES OF THE OLDEN DAYS IN HAWAII

ERNEST KAAI AND GROUP OF HIS MUSICIANS WHO WILL BE HEARD IN OLD HAWAIIAN MELODIES
AT THE OPERA HOUSE TONIGHT.

The Mid-Pacific Carnival is now a thing of the past and the Ernest Kaai Concert to be given at the Hawaiian Opera House at 8:15 tonight is the next thing in the amusement program. Mr. Kaai has arranged an entertainment which will be intensely interesting to kamaainas as well as tourists. A combination of the sweet Hawaiian melodies to be rendered by the Royal Hawaiians will comprise one-half of the concert and a play typically Hawaiian will be presented later in the evening.

Special scenery has been painted for "Old Hawaii" and is said to be particularly beautiful. Handsome Hawaiian girls, daughters of the old warriors who fought for their chiefs, will participate in the entertainment and it is expected that the concert will be the best of its kind ever presented in Honolulu.

Those desiring to procure seats may get them at the Hawaii Promotion committee rooms, this afternoon or at the box office this evening. The sale has been remarkable and it is certain that a capacity house will greet the singers.

BIJOU THEATER

Honolulu chauffeurs will get some ideas of the possibilities of their jobs when they see the new play to be given tonight at the Bijou theater by the Spaulding Musical Comedy Company. "Fritz," represented by George Spaulding, is the leading character role and the principals all have interesting parts. Fritz's first introduction to the audience is in the character of a chauffeur. During the course of the play he becomes a German count and there arises from this impersonation numerous funny situations.

The stage setting will be unusually effective and the feature musical number, "Peg o' My Heart," will be one of the prettiest numbers ever produced here. Miss Edith Newlin, with a daintily-clad chorus, will sing the song.

The other numbers are: "Mammy Jimmy's Jubilee," "Hattie De Von," "Come and Kiss Your Baby," "Margarette De Von," "When You and I Were Young, Maggie," "Edith Newlin," "Baby Rose, My Moonlight Pal," "Paisley Noon," "The Wonderful Way You Have," "Hattie and Margarette De Von."

EMPIRE THEATER

Featuring Courtenay Foote and Miss Flora Finch, in the stellar roles, "Horatio Sparkins," adapted from Charles Dickens' works, will be a pictorial offering at the Empire theater with the change of program of photo plays at today's matinee and evening performance. Much has been said of this picture, as it has been presented by a capable company of players and under the auspices of one of the best studios on the mainland.

"The Open Secret," a drama strong in plot and ably presented, is a two-reel feature film offered patrons of the Empire. The unfolding of the story is a masterful piece of work and makes a strong appeal to all those who enjoy a wholesome playlet by talented performers of national reputation. Several of the scenes are laid during the war of the rebellion. In these days, when "movie" plots are scarce, the range of comic pictures included in the repertoire at the Empire for the remainder of this week is well chosen and extensive.

"The Human Vultures" is a picture several thousand feet in length and strongly dramatic. It will be shown in this city for the first time on Friday afternoon and evening.

People who "grin and bear it" when they have headaches have never used "Shac." You may be certain. If they once knew what quick relief it would give them and how much better they feel after taking it, they would never willingly suffer the torture again. Insist on "Shac."—advertisement.

HUI NALU 'FOLLIES' TO BE REPEATED FOR BENEFIT OF PARTY OF TOURISTS

It was through an earnest request from a party of mainland tourists, visiting these islands with a primary view to delving into local color and seeing and hearing the things which Hawaii is advertised as being famous for, that the members of the Hui Nalu were prompted to repeat their "Follies" at the Opera house next Saturday evening. Accompanying this request was another from a well-pleased and appreciative local public which, not content with two performances, also demanded a third. Therefore, the repetition of the "Follies." The tickets are on sale at the Hawaiian News company at prevailing prices, and thus far the demand has been heavy.

But to get back to the tourists. They came to Honolulu to hear some real, Hawaiian music, as they informed the Promotion Committee. One of them, having nothing to do that evening, dropped into the second performance of the "Follies." That he was informed his fellow tourists that it was "some show," and immediately the request for a third production was forthcoming. After the two performances were over, Honoluluans urged the clubmen to repeat, and, of course, the Hui Nalu was

Meteoric Data

The brilliant display of "shooting stars" is another illustration of how great a fire a small celestial object may kindle when it comes in contact with our atmosphere. A meteor no bigger than a marble can easily produce by its combustion enough light to make it visible to the naked eye, and many of them weigh but a few hundred pounds.

The word meteor comes from the Greek word "meteora," which means "things in the air." The name Meteora is bestowed by the Greeks upon that remarkable cluster of monasteries in Thessaly where the monks dwell "in the air" on lofty pinnacles to whose summits access is had by windlasses or by ladders. Meteorology is, of course, "the study of things in the air."

Meteors were once believed to be exhalations of inflammable gas, bringing disaster in their train. The great meteor shower of November, 1833, first aroused modern students to the interest of this branch of astrophysical science, and investigation showed that the heavenly pyrotechnics were created by "small planetary bodies, practically infinite in numbers and limitless in the extent and variety of their orbits." The average height at which a meteor becomes visible is only forty to eighty miles above the earth. If one looks in the northern sky late on one of these evenings at the constellation Perseus (standing at the feet of Andromeda), he will observe that the shooting stars seem to radiate from a common focus, though actually coming in parallel lines toward the observer, like the rails when one stands upon a railway track. This focal point is called the radiant, and a radiant is a perverse creature that comes and goes in the starry heavens as it pleases, expanding and contracting, tarrying a while or vanishing like the Cheshire Cat of "Alice in Wonderland."

The British museum has meteoric specimens belonging to 566 different "falls" of which 325 were seen as they fell. The largest single mass observed in its flight was that which came down at Knyahinya, Hungary, in 1866, weighing 547 pounds. Masses much heavier than this, presumed to be meteorites, are known. That which was brought back by Peary from Western Greenland weighs thirty-six and a half tons. The "Perseids" of these August nights follow the track of a comet known as "1862:III," which is supposed to put in an appearance every 121 years. Biela's comet, which has vanished, used to make its appearance every seven years, and since it last crossed the earth's orbit there are meteor showers whenever it is due. The behavior of the Perseids and of the meteor shower seems to support the theory that "meteors are the fragments of shattered comets."

Whatever they are, the fact that they come out of interstellar space and actually land upon "our earth" seems to the thrilled imagination to cross the void betwixt the known and the unknown. They bring earthward metals that we know—iron, cobalt, tin, copper and others, but not the precious metals. As the only tangible and visible messengers from the sky, it is not surprising that keen scientific interest in their origin and nature has replaced the medieval superstition that only beheld in them the portents of a Deity incensed against the misdemeanors of dwellers upon earth and directing against them the artillery of the illumined skies.—Philadelphia Ledger.

CENTRAL UNION TAKES TIME IN MAKING CHANGE

Although two informal votes were taken at the meeting of the members of the congregation of Central Union church last evening, no definite decision was reached as to whether the church shall give up the old articles of faith or adopt the new confession of faith as advocated by the National Council of Congregational Churches in America. The report of the standing committee, in whose hands the matter was placed two weeks ago, was present, but, as nothing was reached through the votes, final consideration was postponed until a meeting to be held next Wednesday evening.

Among the speakers were F. J. Lowrey, who acted as secretary of the meetings which were held in 1887 to take steps toward the organization of Central Union church, and D. L. Withington, one of the oldest and most active members of the congregation. Mr. Lowrey read some of the minutes of the early meetings and pointed out, among other things, the time it had taken to choose a name for the church. That the proposed new confession of faith simply is a return to the early Christian creed was pointed out by Mr. Withington after careful analysis and comparison. He pictured it as being a return to the fundamental principles of the Christian faith.

W. G. SMITH TO BE CHAUTAUQUA LECTURER SOON

Of Walter G. Smith, former editor of the Advertiser and of the Hawaiian Star, the Sherburne, N. Y., News of February 12 says:

"Hon. Walter G. Smith received a telegram from California Tuesday saying that he would be expected to begin a tour of the Chautauqua circuit, World's Fair lectureship, on or before June 1, and should hold himself in readiness meanwhile to take a special work in Chicago. The Panama-Pacific Exposition will send its lecturers all over the world to advertise the fair and some are already on their way to distant points. Besides lecturing the staff will show moving pictures. Mr. Smith ended a year of his Hawaiian lectureship last June after traveling about 12,500 miles."

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try It! Hair gets soft, fluffy and luxuriant at once—No more falling hair

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine, if eventually—why not now?—advertisement.

RUSSO-JAPANESE WAR WILL BE THE TOPIC OF BRIG.-GEN. M. M. MACOMB

Brig.-gen. M. M. Macomb, commander of the Hawaiian department, will give an address at the Young Men's Christian Association this evening on his "Russo-Japanese War Experiences."

General Macomb was the representative of the United States government with the Russian forces during all of the fighting of this war and had an unusual opportunity, not only to study the tactics from a military point of view, but to see many of the novel features of the engagements and sieges.

The Thursday night lectures are held in Cooke hall and commence at 8 o'clock. They are free to members of the association and their men friends.
